Business Development Manager

The last twelve months have been one of the most successful periods for BMS with record turnover and significant progress in the development and implementation of our latest Browser based MillMaster software, the cornerstone of our business with over a dozen key customers already having committed to this move.

With our technology road map customers keep 100% of their existing functionality, gain a very intuitive browser interface, connectivity to Microsoft Office products and remote working options for field staff and much much more so prospects for BMS customers are looking very positive.

We have invested heavily in recruitment and training to cover our technology and infrastructure requirements, becoming one of a select group of HP Gold Preferred Partners and Microsoft Gold Partners.

We are looking for a dynamic, forward looking Business Development Manager to join BMS at this exciting time. You should have a good knowledge of Agriculture and in particular Feed Compounding, a sound business background, lots of initiative and drive and be used to marketing and selling (ideally software solutions) to Managing and Finance Directors across the range of SME and Corporate businesses.

With a significant marketing budget in place, a new advertising program under development, a forward looking customer base making a very significant commitment to the new technologies and a business committed to significant growth over the coming months, the opportunities are unlimited for the right applicant.
